Urges Aggressive Christianity. Rev. Paul Hickok, another speaker, urged "aggressive Christianity." "There is too much negative goodness in the world," he asserted. "How many times have you heard some one say about a have you heard some one say about a man who has just died: Well, he never did anybody any harm.' If that is all that can be said about us, then God help us. We should not be merely refraining from doing evil; we should be doing something real, something good. The world today needs that kind of men—men who stand for things worth while in their communities—as never before. And it is this aggressive Christianity which is helping to make the old world better."

Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Greene, pastor of the church, made a plea for "genuineness." The heart of the world is turning toward the genuine man," he said. Rev. A. F. Anderson, assistant pastor, extended greetings and Frof. Louis D. Bliss, teacher of the class, also spoke. All of the speakers praised the late Mr. Vaughn, founder of the class. Edward L. A Thousand Women Making Final Appeal to Washington Generosity.

"SHARE A DAY'S PAY." IS SLOGAN OF WORKERS

Members of Congress and Government Employes Asked to Help Swell the Total.

"For charity and capital pride" was ler Barrett, chairman of the federal day effort, and Mrs. Ellis Logan, executive chairman of the District donation week campaign for the support of the Washington charities, spurred their more than 1,000 workers on this

ast day of the "begging."

"Share a day's pay" was the plea nade to all of the hundreds of thousands of government employes in all of the departments. Women were staof the entrances and exits of the federal buildings collecting their mite with all their might from all who could be induced to contribute.

Each senator received a personal let-ter from Mrs. Barrett, asking him to give at least $10 for the good cause, and Mrs. Barrett said at noon today that she expects the response to be generous.

small coins as they can afford to help the less fortunate who haven't a sure job under civil service.

Today's scurry for funds is to close with a reception this evening in the greeted by the executive committee of clubwomen and by the civil, church and business leaders who constitute the men's advisory committee. It is hoped by Mrs. Barrett that at this meeting a number of generous checks will be received.

Those who will assist in the reception are Mrs. Ellis Logan, president of the District Federation of Women's Clubs: Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Emma S. Mr. Hibbs testified that he had made inspections of 130 saloons up to November 1 last; that since November he had been called upon by the board to act as a stenographer in the hearings of 523 applications for licenses, and that he had had no time to make any inspections since then.

Every one of the contribution boxe turned in tonight, as the men's commit tee is to meet tomorrow in the Raleigh Hotel to apportion out to each of the indorsed charities its share of the charity fund which has been collected dur ing the week. In the House office building early to and the audiences were appealed to while prominent women passed around the boxes. One of the young women on the bill at Keith's took charge of the collection, wearing her stage costume, and while Mrs. Barrett exhorted from the stage that all be as generous as they could afford the actress got the men onto their feet so that they could reach down into their pockets.

Among the women assisting in the flower sale and collection were Miss Margaret Shane, Miss Hazel Wells, Miss Margaret Gillespie, Mrs. Lawrence Hamilton, Mrs. Russell Bowen, Miss Mary Wendley, Miss Flora Briggs, Miss Katherine Cecella Boorman, the Misses Ruby and Agnes Dedge, Mrs. Herbert S. Kline, Mrs. Indiana Brooke, Mrs. Elsie Nelson, Miss Edith Oriani and Miss Virginia Haley.

At least one of the prety young women worked hard and sympathetically for the cause last night, for she knew the pangs of hunger. Miss Agnes Dedge had an unpleasant experience at Poil's Theater. She and her sister were keeping their supply of flowers in the little office room next to the box office. While she was in there some one locked the door, and for several hours Miss Dedge was a prisoner, "and very hungry." But this time was turned to good account for the charity campaign, for with nothing else to do she spent the hours in making up a large supply of little nosegays that were sold to the patrons at the evening performance.
